Modern Dutch kitchen and fresh daily local produce in Restaurant JOOST

JOOST is the sublimely designed restaurant and bar within Hotel Vondel in Amsterdam.

Embracing the Dutch kitchen, JOOST's menu changes with the seasons to ensure all dishes can be prepared daily using fresh local produce. Imagine a wooden board laden with Dutch shrimps, smoked herring, eel and salmon. Or a typically Dutch charcuterie board bearing hand-made pâté from artisanal pastry chef Diny Schouten, 'ossenworst' (smoked beef sausage), and dried salami sourced from 'Baambrugge', a nearby village. Other delights include a weekly-changing stamppot – a classic Dutch stew. While delicious wines from home-grown vineyards and exquisite cocktails, infused with liquors from quintessential Dutch distilleries, complete the experience.

JOOST is aptly named after the 17th-century Dutch poet and playwright Joost van den Vondel; the inspiration for the city's famous park. In spring and summer, guests can enjoy lunch, dinner or drinks al fresco in its beautiful private garden. JOOST is open seven days a week (the kitchen is open from 7.30am-10pm; the bar until 1am).
